Mahana Dunn, Wedding Jewelry Artist

Passionate design... this is how the universe was created, and how Mahana Dunn creates Mahana Maui jewelry.

It is the powerful beauty of Maui, Hawaii that first inspired Mahana to create a jewelry line that expresses the sparkle of the ocean, the glow of a sunset, and the unique paradise of her beloved island home.

Mahana first arrived upon Hawaii's shores in 1995, fell in love with the land and waters of Hawaii, and became a professional jewelry designer. The sea and the land, these forms of living nature inspired Mahana to seek the land and waters of the Pacific Ocean to find the perfect centerpieces for her creations. It was the sister islands of Hawaii, the islands of New Zealand, where the Maori people create the most stunning jewelry masterpieces.

The Maori carve the ancient symbols for love, hope, strength, and long life into the gems that the Earth herself gives to us in the form of the rare South Sea Mother of Pearl (pinctada maxima) and the rare Nephrite Jade (found in New Zealand).

These precious elements were traditionally reserved for royalty. Mahana imports to Maui direct from her Maori source these stunning one-of-a-kind works of art, and combine them with fine hand selected cultured pearls for women, natural hematite from New Zealand for men, and a 14K gold clasp. Each creation is made with love (Aloha) with the intention that whoever wears the necklace will live a very healthy and vibrant life, and have a happy and blessed marriage.

Mahana Maui LLC jewelry brings the spirit of Aloha to each creation, which is unique and one-of-a-kind, just like you.

LEI LANI

Heavenly Lei of Love (lay-ee lah-nee)

LEI LANI: Heavenly Lei of Love (lay-ee lah-nee)

A “Lei Lani” is a radiant garland worn around the neck—a symbol of regalness, splendor, grace, and supreme beauty.

The sacred symbol of the waves shows to embrace the universe with unconditional love. It is said that through the unfolding of the great waves of life is where magic lives and dreams come true.

This carving is of sacred creation inspired by the geometry of life. It is believed that when we are in sync with that geometry by wearing sacred symbols it allows us to create our greatest dreams come true and manifest abundantly.

When a woman wears a Lei Lani she becomes the embodiment of supreme beauty, nani koki, and brightness of heaven, alohi lani.

Legend says that when the Goddess of Heaven chose to descend to Earth and join with her true love God of the Sea, she adorned herself with a Lei Lani, a sacred lei of rainbows around her neck—a gift from paradise. As she did this, she transformed into the most beautiful woman, a true goddess who walks in grace upon the Earth.

About the Centerpiece:

ALOHA

Goddess of Love (ah-loh-hah)

ALOHA: Goddess of Love (ah-loh-hah)

Love is the most powerful force in the universe. It is because of love that all life was created. It is the bond which holds the fabric of life together. It is because of love that you were born.

The Goddess of Aloha, divine beauty and love, blesses all beings with the light of her unconditional love. It is a divine blessing to she who chooses to wear an Aloha.

The Great Goddess of Love is alive in all things. She reveals herself and all her mysteries to those who choose to live from their heart, and be in service to all life.

The ancients believed that consciousness did not dwell in the head, but in the heart, for that is where the divine speaks sweetly in the stillness, and ignites the fire of your passion from the depths of your heart's true desire.

To devote yourself to love, the greatest force, is all powerful. It is through love that all can be accomplished, and brought into manifestation.

Let the eternal light in your heart glow with divine radiance with the kiss of Aloha, Goddess of True Love.

HAUMEA

Hawaiian Goddess of the Earth (how-may-a)

HAUMEA: Goddess of the Sacred Earth (in Hawaiian) (how-may-a)

The radiant Goddess of the blessed Earth is honored by all beings; for all life is a gift from the Earth.

The Goddess Haumea, is the bringer of light to the sacred Earth, and the keeper of the secrets buried deep beneath her forest's roots and mountain peaks capped with snow.

Haumea blesses all those who love and honor her gifts of Earth's treasures; abundantly and with open arms she embraces her beloveds with the treasures of grace, beauty, truth, and love.

The greatest all treasures is love, for love is all that is. It is what the universe is composed of.

It is with divine love that Haumea, sacred Goddess of the Earth, shines her heavenly blessings upon you when you wear her namesake treasure, a Haumea. For when you honor this great Goddess, she adorns you with the heavenly treasure of abundant love.

The Maori of New Zealand, under the guidance of a timeless tradition, carve the sacred symbols of eternal growth, movement, and illumination. This sacred geometry of creation shows that all life has sacred purpose and everything has meaning.

ULULANI

Heavenly Angel Companion (oo loo lah nee)

ULU LANI: Heavenly Angel Companion (oo loo lah nee)

Your guardian angel, or anela kia'i in Hawaiian, is your constant guide, protector, and companion. Around the world, many legends and religions speak of your heavenly guardian angel or your Higher Self, who walks with you always, and guides you to safe and abundant lands.

In ancient Hawaii, the concept of a “guardian angel” was very important, for the great navigators of the sea would journey thousands of miles under the watch guidance of their heavenly angels.

As a living goddess of light, you too are a living angel sent to bring heaven's light, ao lani, to all those who love you. Blessed is she who walks in grace with the light from heaven!

The Ulu Lani is the perfect complement to bless the angel of your heart (or yourself) with a golden lei of heavenly light.

LAKA

LAKA: Sacred Goddess of Sunshine (lah-kah)

The Goddess Laka is the sacred guardian of sunshine and the protectress of all nature. She is the goddess of the sacred dance, the hula, and can be seen in all beautiful flowers that bloom in her forest.

Laka reminds us to live in the bliss of the present moment; to find heaven in the eternal now. Heavenly beauty is bestowed upon she who wears a Laka, for the Goddess of Sunshine shines always upon those who honor her. She is the goddess of movement, for all life is a sacred dance between light and matter; the kiss of the cosmos.

The ecstasy and bliss of true love is the essence of ancient Hawaii and Mahana Maui, as it is through unyielding passion that the Universe was created. The sacred waves of ecstasy as represented in this carving of the triple waves of bliss.

As we chose our lives to forever follow the path of our heart, we embrace the divine within and see the sacred light which forever shines within ourselves. This sacred light is eternally loving us and blessing us with the gift of life.

AREYLA

Goddess of the First Light (ar-ay-lah)

AREYLA: Goddess of the First Light (ar-ay-lah)

Areyla is an ancient goddess from the land of Mu, long before the great sea isolated Hawaii in the Pacific Ocean. She was given the heavenly task to bring the great light down to earth and be a guiding light.

Areyla is also known as the Goddess of Eternity, for matter is light in motion. She is a mystical goddess who shows herself only to those who seek her wisdom, and her presence is a divine treasure.

The navigators of the ancient world honored the Goddess Areyla for she holds the torch (star) to guide the way and light the path home.

The symbol represented in the centerpiece is a Koru—a Maori symbol of divine union and movement. Koru appear in many carvings of ancient Aotearoa (New Zealand) representing the constant flow of life. They are the endless spirals of existence that are carved to represent new life, new beginnings, growth, and movement.

Since the only constant in the universe is change, the Koru elegantly represent the unfolding of new life, new choices, and new horizons. The spiral of creation represents renewal and hope for the future.

This carving is of sacred creation created by the geometry of life which help us to create our greatest dreams to come true and manifest abundantly.

ISIS

Goddess of Divine Creation (eye-sis)

ISIS: Goddess of Divine Creation (eye-sis)

The Great Mother Creatrix, Isis, is one of the most celebrated goddesses from the ancient world. The ancients believed that Isis was the beginning and end to all things, and that with her, all is possible.

She is depicted as the winged goddess, her arms opened wide across the Universe, loving and protecting all her beloveds on the Earth and under the sea. It is the mission of Isis to bring peace and unity to all beings, for she is the weaver of the tapestry of life.

Throughout the ancient world, Goddess Isis is honored and worshiped as the lady who brings the harvest, the keeper of the mysteries, the feminine divine, and the Goddess of the rising and setting sun.

Isis is said to have unlimited vision, and is able to see into the past, present, and future. She is as a great eagle, who can see your whole life's path from her lofty vantage point. She is called upon for her vision and insight, for we are only able to see a few feet ahead as we journey down the river of life.

In ancient Egypt, Isis has many temples dedicated to her honor and is celebrated as the great fertility Goddess; our Lady of Life who blesses the Earth with the green goodness of the Goddess. May the Great Goddess of Life, Lady Isis, bring love and peace to you, always.

About the Centerpiece:

Elegant and rare, this Nephrite Jade spiral of life, is hand carved by the Maori of New Zealand (Aotearoa). Considered the Green Stone of Protection, Nephrite Jade is very sacred to the Maori who believe that once the Jade is carved in the ancient way, with sacred intention, then it becomes a pounamu, alive with much mana (life force). Using sacred intention, Mahana Maui then marries the centerpiece with fine antique green jade, cultured gold pearls, and 14K solid gold. Your Mahana Maui treasure comes in an elegant cherry wood and white leatherette box and is registered with a Certificate of Authenticity.

Blessed is she who wears an Isis, for she is also a living goddess and a true blessing to all. ARAVAI

Ancient God of Love and Virility (ar-ah-veye)

ARAVAI: Ancient God of Love and Virility (ar-ah-veye)

The God Aravai is an ancient god from the land of Mu, long before the waters held hands to create the islands of Hawaii. In the ancient world, he is the God of Love, the one who shines divine blessing upon all.

The legend of Aravai is that he was once a mortal man, honorable and true, who respected life, women, and the sacred art of lovemaking. A most beautiful goddess from Makali'i (the Pleiadies) saw his virtues and skills, and chose Aravai to be her mate.

This radiant goddess was complete in all her splendor, yet she never knew the art of love; the sacred touch of a lover to his beloved. One night when the moon was full, the Great Goddess sang to Aravai an enchanting song on the wind, beckoning him to a secret cave beneath the sacred mountain.

Upon reaching the cave, Aravai immediately fell deeply in love with the enchanting goddess and was hypnotized by her radiant beauty. Without words, they were drawn together by the mighty force of creation and embraced each other for the first time, and for all eternity.

The luminous glow of their passion caused the mountain to glow with love's fire, the announcement that a mortal man had become a living god through his devotion to the power of eternal love (aloha). May the legend of Aravai ignite your soul, your heart, and your fiery passion!

About the Centerpiece:

This rare and exquisite Nephrite Jade is carved by hand, in a timeless tradition, by the Maori of New Zealand (Aotearoa) into the sacred symbol of passion. The Maori will search the verdant valleys, sometimes for days, until the right jade stone calls to them, and then carve them using the skills that have been passed down for countless generations.

Using sacred intention, Mahana Maui then marries the centerpiece with fine hand-selected natural hematite from New Zealand (20 mm), sterling silver, and 14K solid white gold clasp. This sacred symbol was worn for love, fertility, strength, and long life. Legend says that when hematite and jade are worn as a symbol of devotion to love, a man embodies the strength, power, and eternal love of the gods. Mahana Maui imports these treasures direct from New Zealand from an exclusive Maori source. Your Mahana Maui treasure comes in an elegant cherry wood and white leatherette box, and is registered with a Certificate of Authenticity.

KANALOA

Hawaiian God of the Sea (ka-na-low-a)

KANALOA: God the Sea

The God of the mighty sea, Kanaloa, encircles all of Hawaii with his protection, power of love.

The Sea God, Kanaloa, is revered as the all powerful provider, a viral god who brings life through the waters of his passion. This masculine masterpiece is very regal, and worthy to be worn by a king!

In Hawaii and throughout Polynesia, men wear necklaces as living symbols of strength, virility, honor, and the divine masculine, always in service to the heart.

The carving of the centerpiece is of a manaia; a sacred symbol of the dragon/phoenix, the most exalted mythical animal. The manaia is an auspicious combination of the dragon and the phoenix and is celebrated as the bright being who brings the blessings of abundance.

The priceless pearl of wisdom that the dragon guards is said to be an expression of unlimited spiritual power. In its claw, the dragon holds an enormous magical pearl which has the power to multiply whatever it touches.

This ceremonial piece holds the intention of living energy. A sacred necklace that can be worn during auspicious ceremonies such as weddings or commitment ceremonies; or everyday to celebrate the awesome power that creates each new day.

Traditionally, the Maori of New Zealand have worn the manaia for strength, long life, virility, success, and the devotion to true love. About the Centerpiece:

This rare and exquisite Nephrite Jade is carved by hand, in a timeless tradition, by the Maori of New Zealand (Aotearoa). HOW IT'S MADE

Passionate design-this is how all life was created. And it is with passionate design that Mahana Maui legacy jewelry is created by hand. Each masterpiece is extraordinary and unique, just like you. Every work of art by Mahana Maui is infused with much mana, or life force. All Mahana Maui masterpieces begin in the ancient and beautiful lands and waters of New Zealand.

The Maori of Aotearoa, New Zealand, are the ancient ancestors of Hawaiians. They treasure and practice the ancient arts of their ancestors, skills that have been passed down for countless generations. The Maori, like the Hawaiians, believe that all life is sacred and should be honored with respect. It is their traditional belief that when something is carved in a special way, using sacred intention, the object transforms into a taonga, a sacred treasure infused with great life energy. In both Maori and Hawaiian, this sacred life force that is within all things is called mana.

Mystical South Sea Mother of Pearl: pinctada maxima

The mystical pearl throughout all legends around the world is called a “divine gift from heaven”. The rare and exquisite South Sea Mother of Pearl only lives in the beautiful and warm waters of the South Pacific Ocean. The Maori of Aotearoa (New Zealand) hold the pinctada maxima in very high esteem and it is used in sacred jewelry for royalty. It takes over 3 years for the wild Mother of Pearl to mature to its adult size, 12 inches or the size of a dinner plate. The skill of free diving for the papa tio, South Sea Mother of Pearl, is passed down through the generations.

The divers dive beyond the depths of 60 feet to find the wild pinctada maxima, untouched by man. The Maori diver says a blessing and takes the large oyster home to be carved under water, by way of an ancient Maori process. This whole process can take up to many months, for the diver must feel that the oyster is the right one to be carved. Being that the shell's lips are fragile, it takes great patience and skill to bring forth the rainbow of magical colors waiting to be discovered within its layers.

Mahana Maui imports to Hawaii these rare and valuable treasures from an exclusive Maori source, who personally carve these gems of the sea. Mahana unifies the Maori masterpieces with luxurious hand selected fine cultured pearls from throughout the Pacific region. She completes each piece with a 14K solid gold clasp, and blesses each necklace with mana. Each beloved creation is forged by hand on the magical island of Maui, Hawaii, in the verdant jungles of Maui's North Shore.

NEPHRITE JADE, sacred healing stone of Aotearoa (New Zealand): The Land of the Long White Cloud

Aotearoa is home to some of the most stunning landscapes imaginable. These ancient valleys create one of earth's most magical minerals, Nephrite Jade. The tohunga, skilled Maori craftsman, says the "greenstone of protection", known as pounamu in Maori, is believed to "align the people with the stars".

The magical Greenstone is found in rivers and appear nondescript. It takes a skilled Maori carver a long time to journey along the rivers calling to the right stone to be carved. The Maori call the South Island of New Zealand "Te Wai Pounamu" (The Land of Greenstone Water). Pounamu (Nephrite Jade Carvings) are highly valued by the Maori and it plays an important role in their culture. It is considered a taonga or treasure.

Once a Maori tohunga, master carver, finds the right boulder of Nephrite Jade, he carries it home to be carefully carved into the sacred pounamu; An ancient carving said to embody the mana (life power) of nature and the gods. It may take a Maori carver many months from finding the perfect stone, to the perfected carving of the sacred pounamu, by using the traditional tools. The finished pounamu of Nephrite Jade is highly polished with a smooth surface and smooth edges.

Each carving is an ancient sacred symbol said to give its bearer strength, virility, love, long life, and power. The Maori believe that the Nephrite Jade is alive with mana (life power) and once they are carved into pounamu, the act of carving activates the mana in each stone, becoming a blessing to the person to whom it belongs. These unique sacred carvings of the rare Nephrite Jade only come from Aotearoa (New Zealand) and the Maori people. Much of the ancient pounamu is priceless and in museums throughout New Zealand and the world. Our Maori carvers in Hawaii's sister islands of New Zealand hand harvest and then hand carve the pounamu, especially for Mahana Maui LLC. Mahana combines the "stone of the gods" with natural hematite, also from New Zealand; said to bring a woman good luck and man great virility. In ancient times, hematite was worn as a love amulet, said to give its bearer "the power of the gods".
